1 in whole or in part by a governmental unit, or for an obligation to repay funds received as
2 an educational benefit, scholarship or stipend, as described in 11 U.S.C. 523(a)(8).

3
4 2.3 On 1-23-17, the debtor filed for relief under Chapter 7 of the U.S. Bankruptcy
5 Code. NCS debt was listed as creditors in Schedule F filed herein as well as their 6 servicers.

7 2.4 That the debtor is single and aged 38 with no children.

8 2.5 That to not discharge these student loans would impose an undue hardship on 9 this defendant.

10
11 2.6 A discharge is expected in this case in early May, 2017.

12 2.7 The Plaintiff has substantial medical problem, commonly known as "AIDS".
13 Specifically, three years ago I became HIV positive. HIV is the virus that causes AIDS.
14 AIDS is a complete shutdown of one's immune system, leaving the person vulnerable and 15 unable to defend oneself from other diseases. Some cases of HIV are easily managed by 16 medicine, and some cases are extremely difficult and progress rapidly to AIDS. My case
17 of HIV is of the latter and rapidly progressed towards AIDS. I have had an extremely 18 difficult time with my health and would like to detail the facts of this health problem, which is 19 burden upon my life that I must live with. There is no cure for HIV or AIDS.
20

22 2.8 When I was diagnosed as being HIV positive, I immediately progressed to full 23 blown AIDS, in less than a month. This is not common. My immune system shut down and 24 I was extremely sick for 4 months, unable to care for myself, and moved back in with family.

1 I had very high fevers, and day and night sweats. The inside of my mouth and throat were
2 covered in open sores that would not heal, I could not eat and existed only on liquids, and
3 lost approximately 30 pounds of body weight. My body was covered in skin rashes which 4 itched so badly I scratched myself until the point of bleeding daily. I was unable to get up to 5 use the bathroom by myself and my parents had to assist me. I had colds and various 6 infections. After months of medication my body responded slightly and I crested just above
7 the diagnosis level for AIDS. Even after taking medication faithfully daily for 3 years, I have 8 barely recovered, teetering on the edge of having full blown AIDS.
9

11 2.9 I have an unusually low T-cell (CD4/CD8) count that has not increased in response to 12 medication for over 3 years. T-cells are white blood cells that direct the immune system and are a
13 reference point for immune health. A healthy person should have anywhere in a window between 730
14 to 2,250 t-cells per cubic millimeter of blood. My t-cell count is 255, severely below the safe healthy
15 limit, as of my last blood test on 9/29/16. The threshold to diagnose full blown AIDS is 200 or 16 below. My t-cell count is barely hovering above full blown AIDS, even with medication. In other
17 words, my immune system is quite damaged and is not recovering in response to medication, and I
18 continue to live on the threshold of having full blown AIDS again.
19

22 2.10. I have an unusually aggressive strain of HIV virus that mutates often and has become 23 resistant to 5 different pharmaceutical drug combinations, meaning I have failed these meds and they

1 will no longer work for me. My virus has adapted to render these medications as useless. Not only
2 have I failed individual HIV medications, but also the entire class/family of medications these drugs
3 belong to. There is only a finite amount of HIV drug medications available, and my options are rapidly
4 dwindling. If my virus continues the trend of mutating and developing resistance to my medication
5 regime, and I fail my current meds, I will only have a few options left. If the time comes that I run out of 6 these options, my immune system will completely fail, I will progress to full blown AIDS again, and will 7 become terminally ill. The medication I take is not completely effective and my strain of virus has 8 become difficult to suppress.

11 2.11. Because none of the medications I have taken are able to fully suppress my HIV virus, I
12 still have what's called a viral load. A viral load is how many copies of the HIV virus are flowing
13 through my bloodstream at any given time. Most people become "undetectable" after taking a regular 14 pharmaceutical regime, which means nearly all of their HIV virus has been suppressed. Due to the 15 aggressive nature of my HIV viral strain, my system still has a viral load that is not being suppressed,
16 and the doctors don't know why. This remaining unsuppressable viral load has a detrimental effect on 17 my body, continuing to actively damage my immune system further.

20 2.12. The medication I take is an aggressive treatment regime, meaning it has quite a few 21 serious side effects, and has the potential to cause permanent organ damage. I have no other choice but 22 to take it.

24 2.13. I am immunocompromised. This means my immune system is extremely weak, barely

1 functioning, and I get sick often. When I do get sick, it takes me much longer than healthy people to
2 heal, it can take me weeks to get over a common cold, even longer for the flu. Doing massage for a
3 living, I am in close contact with people's bodies and am exposed often to others' common illnesses.
4 Being sick often significantly impacts my ability to support myself and be financially sustainable. I lose
5 money from not being at work, and being sick too often can threaten my job security.
6

7 2.14. Because of my weak immune system, viral load, and the medication I take, I suffer from 8 extreme exhaustion; I am tired constantly, never feeling like my body can renew itself. I require much
9 more sleep than the average person, ~10-11 hours per day. When I wake up I still don't feel
10 completely rested. I also suffer from constant skin rashes and skin problems. I also suffer from constant
11 digestive problems, affecting both my stomach and my bowel habits. I am nauseated on a daily basis,
12 have a reduced appetite, and have painful and sudden diarrhea on a daily basis. I also suffer from 13 headaches, light headedness, and anxiety.
14

15 2.15 . Because of my longstanding weak immune system, I am at a high risk for developing 16 major problems in the future, such as cancer, along with a host of other diseases. My body simply does 17 not have the immune resources to keep myself healthy and fend off disease.
18

19 2.16. The medication regime I take is extremely expensive. I take four HIV medications
20 currently, Truvada, Tivicay, Prezista, and Tybost. According to price guide on drugs.com, the average
21 low end retail price of a 1 month supply (30 pills) of Truvada 200mg is $1,564.09, for Tivicay 50mg is 22 $1,637.66, for Prezista 800mg is $1,562.36, and Tybost 150mg is so new on the market that a

1 monthly price is not listed. Just counting the first three, my medication regime costs $4,764.11 per
2 month. Thankfully, I qualify for state assistance in paying for my medication because I am low
3 income. Also, because I am low income and have HIV/AIDS, I qualify for subsidized healthcare
4 through state and federal programs. If my income does ever increase, the government will require me to 5 first pay my fair share of insurance premiums and second to pay my fair share of the cost of my 6 medication before I could ever pay money towards any outstanding debts.
7

9 2.17 For the last 3 years since becoming HIV positive and then having full blown
10 AIDS, I have lost my health. This impacts my life on all levels, and is a burden I will have to 11 bear for the rest of my life as there is no cure for HIV or AIDS. Being constantly exhausted,
12 nauseated, light headed, anxious, with skin problems and digestive issues makes it
13 difficult to work and support myself. This is not for lack of trying, as I do push myself as 14 hard as I can to try to have a life and be self sufficient; I work three part time jobs and 15 manage to eke by although I am low income. The work I do, massage and cleaning, is 16 physically demanding and I am currently at my limit in terms of physical capacity to work
17 and make money, and this will not change for the foreseeable future. My problematic
18 health, limited income, and the amount of debt I am in impacts me significantly on an 19 emotional level. I am depressed and anxious about my situation in life, and I feel hopeless
20 about my prospects for my future.

2 Section 523(a)(8)
3

4 3.2 That upon discharge by the above captioned bankruptcy court the plaintiff is entitled to that
5 relief set forth in 11 U.S.C. 524(a).

6 3.3 That in the event the defendant willfully violates the provisions of 11 U.S.C. 362, the

INSTRUCTIONS

The filing of a bankruptcy case creates an "estate" under the jurisdiction of the bankruptcy court which consists of all of the property of the debtor, wherever that property is located. Because the bankruptcy estate is so extensive and the jurisdiction of the court so broad, there may be lawsuits over the property or property rights of the estate. There also may be lawsuits concerning the debtor's discharge. If such a lawsuit is filed in a bankruptcy court, it is called an adversary proceeding.

A party filing an adversary proceeding must also must complete and file Form 104, the Adversary Proceeding Cover Sheet, unless the party files the adversary proceeding electronically through the court's Case Management/Electronic Case Filing system (CM/ECF). (CM/ECF captures the information on Form 104 as part of the filing process.) When completed, the cover sheet summarizes basic information on the adversary proceeding. The clerk of court needs the information to process the adversary proceeding and prepare required statistical reports on court activity.

The cover sheet and the information contained on it do not replace or supplement the filing and service of pleadings or other papers as required by law, the Bankruptcy Rules, or the local rules of court. The cover sheet, which is largely self-explanatory, must be completed by the plaintiff's attorney (or by the plaintiff if the plaintiff is not represented by an attorney). A separate cover sheet must be submitted to the clerk for each complaint filed.

Plaintiffs and Defendants. Give the names of the plaintiffs and defendants exactly as they appear on the complaint.

Attorneys. Give the names and addresses of the attorneys, if known.

Party. Check the most appropriate box in the first column for the plaintiffs and the second column for the defendants.

Demand. Enter the dollar amount being demanded in the complaint.

Signature. This cover sheet must be signed by the attorney of record in the box on the second page of the form. If the plaintiff is represented by a law firm, a member of the firm must sign. If the plaintiff is pro se, that is, not represented by an attorney, the plaintiff must sign.
